Here is a document to show the harassment I have endured over the past couple of months. I am going to refuse to post further, considering my act of apologising got turned into “who can use Kenji’s dms to harass him the most”.

This document will continue to get updated if more harassment comes fourth.

Involved in this document is:

“KenjiDocumentation” - An account dedicated to posting “my every move” (will explain more in detail when the section arises”

“Anonymous Messages” - Messages dedicated to saying stuff to me and my sister anonymously, because they are too cowardly to show their real accounts and expose their disgusting actions to the public eye.

“Radiantzonevirtue” - User that claims to be DirtPileOfWorms and had sexually harassed my sister as well as claimed to put her artwork into AI. The account will regularly boast that “they” (Dirt) are “getting away with it” and are "consistently doing stuff to harass me”. Dirt claims to not be behind the account.

“SakuraWillowTree” - Account dedicated to putting my content into AI and generally being disgusting to others.

“Kenjievidence” - There is nothing to actually put in this document about the account as it quite simply just reposts Dirt’s document. I just wished to document that this account exists.

“Dirtpileofworms” - User that keeps calling me “my abuser” and makes designs suspiciously close to mine. Keeps tracks on my account 24/7 and knows exactly what happens on my account seconds after it takes place.

“Random Accounts” - I will put any random accounts that pop up and decide to make themselves known here.

—----------

As I said in the beginning, the entire account is dedicated to placing my artwork inside of AI and attempting to give away others OC’s for free (They’ve done it to me and my sister)

OC THEFT / AI ART

Image #1

This one wasn’t generated off of an actual Image I have drawn yet was generated based off of my OC. Yet another example of an account making a “female w/ big tits” design out of my male characters.

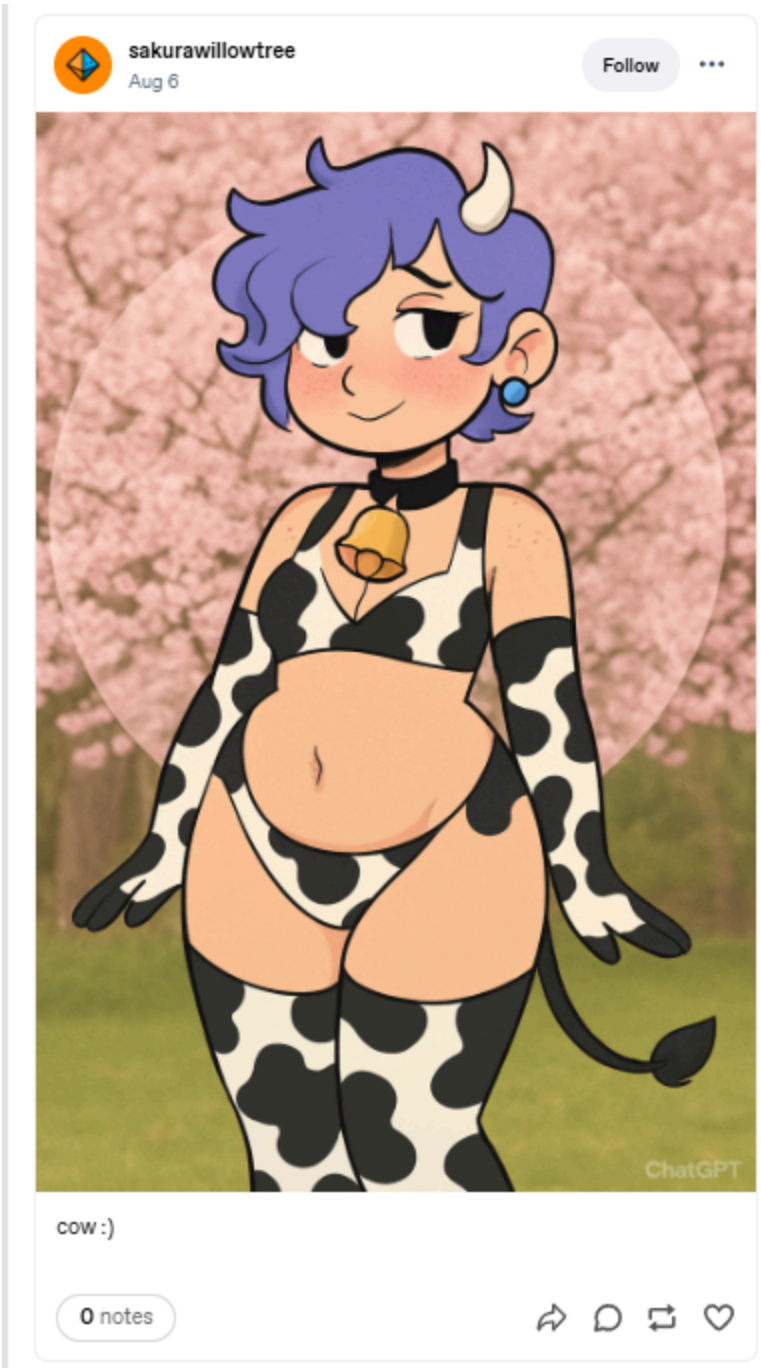
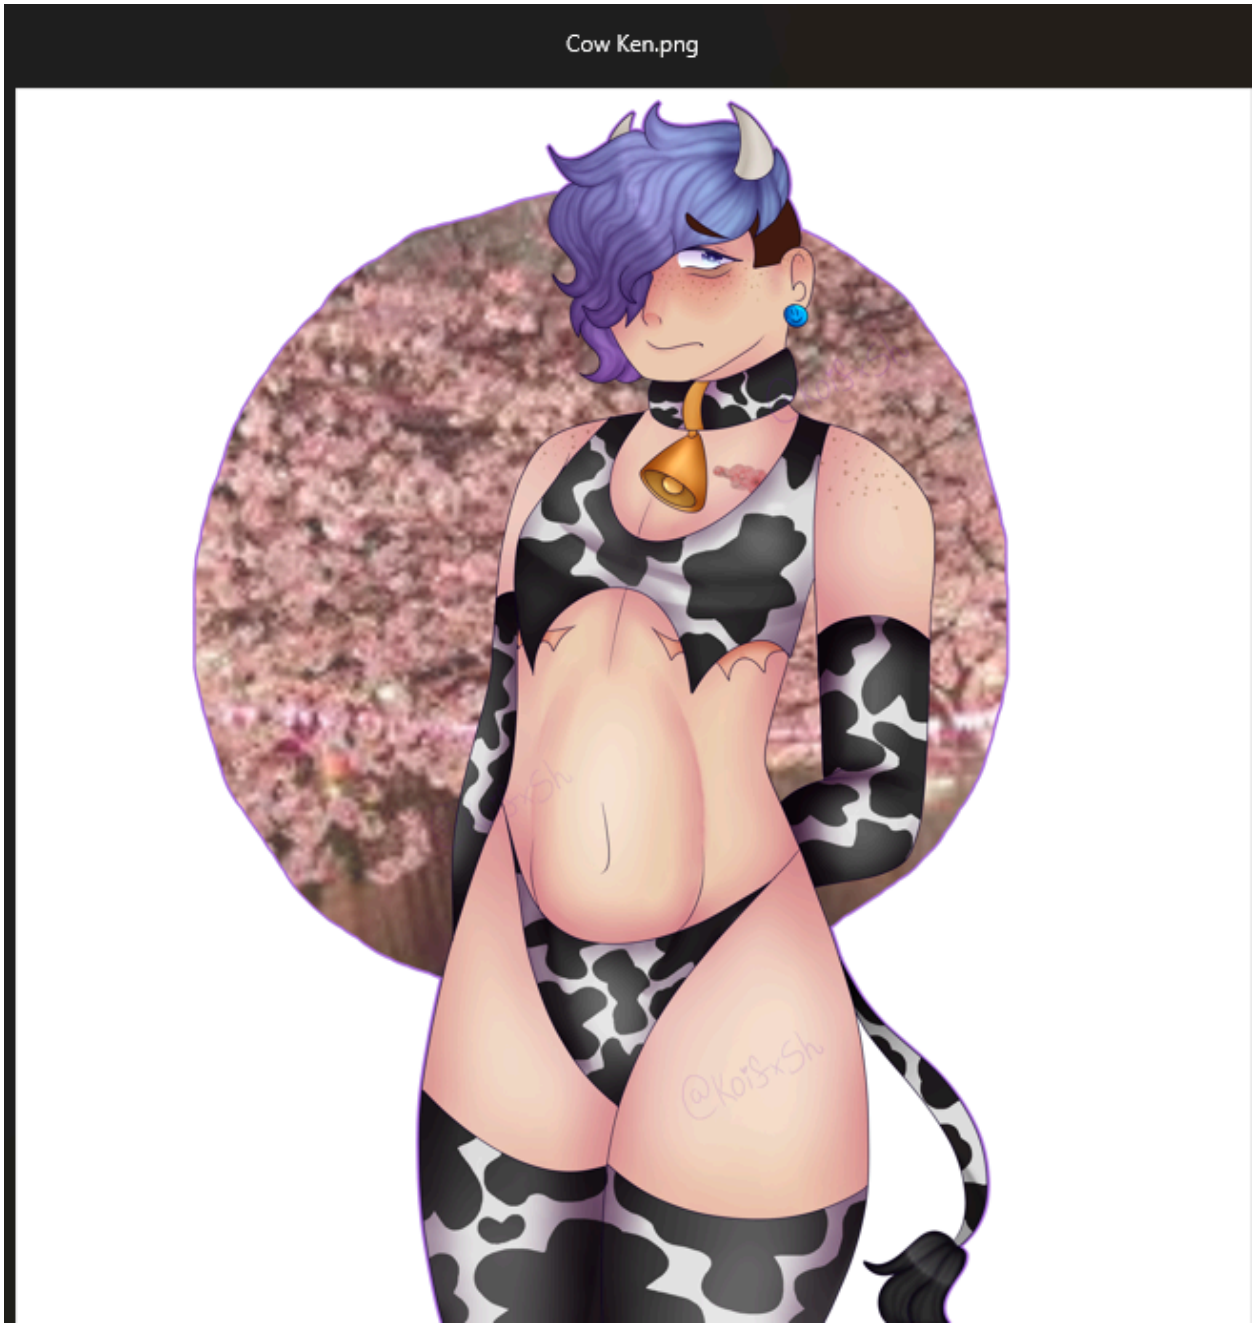
Character #3

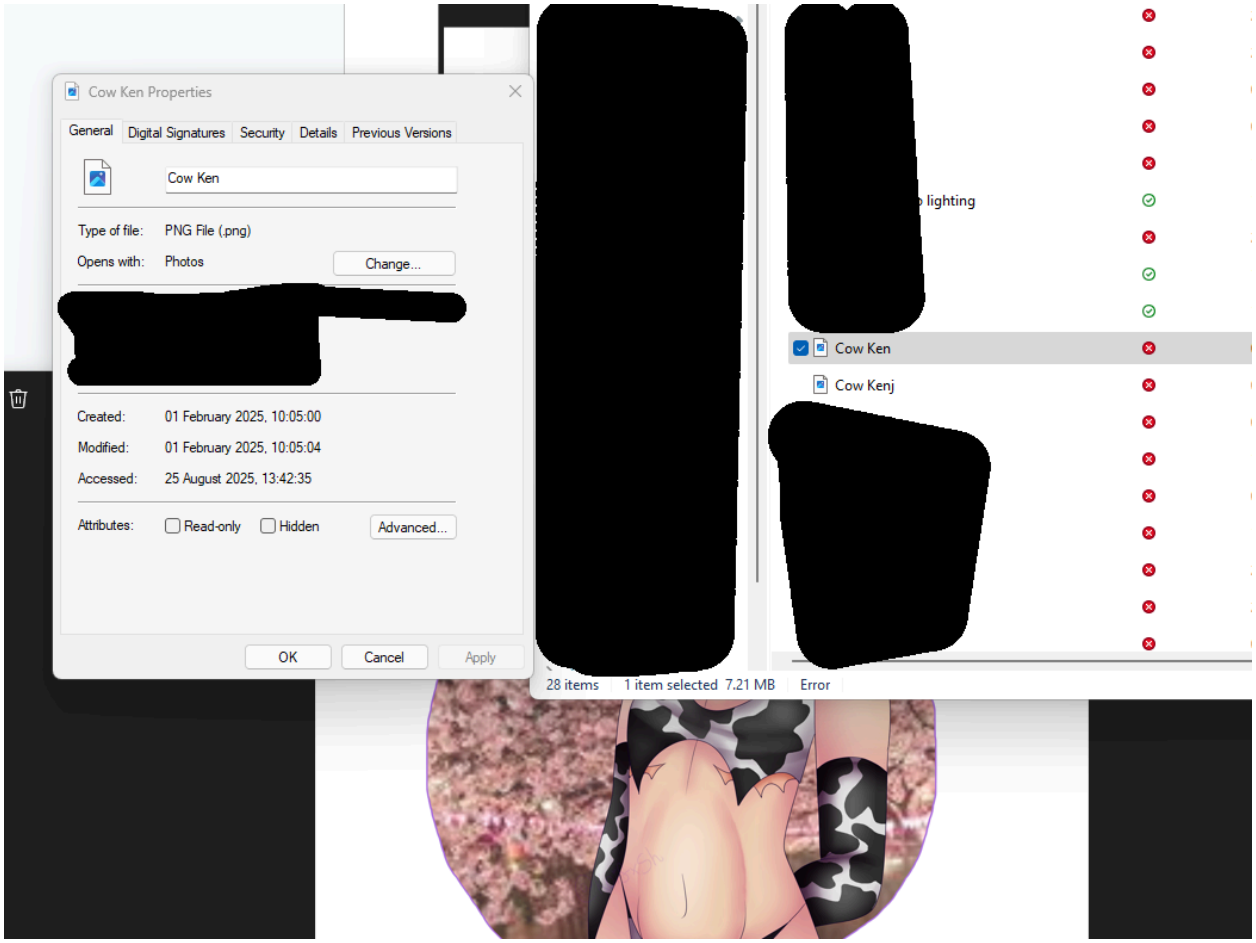


This one was giving my Trans-Male character breasts which is disgusting and makes me uncomfortable.

Original:



Date of the original:



I censored my personal document names as some of them include real names of the people I am friends with. I also don't want you digging around what files I have open.

Character #4

Again, not actually taken from an image of mine. Just AI generated and using my OC.
Edit: there's more examples of where they have attempted to sexualise my MLP OC so I will just dump all examples here instead of re-showing evidence of them stealing her.

If you ARE dirt: Posting that you are stealing from him, Editing screenshots, Claiming you have "evidence" of stuff you don't and attempting to psych kenji out by claiming all of his friends are shit talking him is NOT the way to go about things. You are just making yourself just as the villain as him.
If you AREN'T dirt: Claiming you are, editing screenshots and trying to make others believe you are dirt isn't doing anything. Kenji does not care, clearly shown by the fact that he didn't respond to any accounts but the singular one that was being respectful about it. It's also clear Dirt does not wish to be involved and involving either of them further does nothing but make you look like the bad person.

I asked the account to stop involving my 15 year old sister because of the fact that she is well.. A minor. I don’t want a minor involved and have informed my sister time and time again to block and ignore accounts.

She is doing nothing but existing and the fact she is related to me isn't an excuse to SEXUALLY HARASS A 15 YEAR OLD.
With all due respect; Your sister is choosing to be online and interact with these people. I am not saying what's happening to her is okay AT ALL, but she is inherently involving herself in this space and choosing to stay in it.
I don't agree with people harassing that account, I believe it should stop immediately- However me responding to Asks isn't causing harassment.

“Your sister is choosing to be online and interact with these people”.
It’s clear she isn’t. She has asked to be left alone multiple times (evidence found in “Radiantzonebirtue / account being weird to my sister” Be the bigger person and block her. A child shouldn’t have to block an adult because they’re harassing her / being sexual with her. The adult should be the bigger person and not harass / make a child uncomfortable? You work with children yet refuse to acknowledge this. It astounds me.

Someone here claims they believe I am on an alt pretending to be a minor, the callout account practically confirms their suspicions by saying “Until I see any evidence it’s his sister, I’m not really convinced”.

This accounts consistent acceptance / confirmation of others delusions means that they are using the account as “factual evidence” that I am behind accounts I am not. If you wish to document something has happened and have suspicions I am an account, go for it. But don’t then lump in that accounts actions with stuff I have been confirmed to do.

“It took KENJI” which confirms people believe it is me, furthering on this point, the account responds “it took an hour of me saying x for HIM to start to dox people”.

This kind of deceptive language makes people believe you have confirmation I am behind those accounts and continue on their delusional way of thinking. Not only this, but people have been using your account to “prove” that I am behind those accounts, one of them being Dirt. Who used your account as evidence I am those accounts in the document against me. If you do not have confirmation I am behind the accounts and it is simply speculative, please don’t give people reasoning to believe I am those accounts by using “definitive language.”

Response to my statement / an actual non-tired response.

I wrote all of that tired as shit, so let’s actually do a section about the situation that doesn’t bleed different things into eachother.

""Kenji is going back on the orange thing" I am not. Orange had the choice to remove those images from her server and she did not. My response was "Yes. I twisted the story to say she herself spread them, when she did not. She did, however, not prevent the spreading of them"

Yes. Orange allowed others to spread the CP around her discord server. It was sent also into a private group chat with people as young as 12 inside. My ex, who was a current boyfriend at the time, was found inside of the chat mocking the fact it went out. Which is what led me to find out that all of my relationships from that year were falsified relationships. People who were in the GC were all exs of mine at some point and were told to get into a relationship with me, by orange, so that she could gain information on me as well as gain access to my artwork after I had blocked her. Yes, I know I twisted the truth and claimed she herself spread it. She did not spread the images. She allowed others to spread the images inside of her server and openly mocked my naked body after gaining access to the images. I was told she DID SHARE THEM AROUND by someone..but after looking at the images as of recently, I don’t think someone else's word is enough to claim definitely she had shared them around. When I originally made that statement I was in the mind that Orange had help in physically sharing the image, after going through evidence for the police I have since realised she only had help in the allowing of the distribution of the images which are two separate things.

With the above knowledge, I know that Orange is not an innocent party in the situation…but I also know that I twisted the truth and was spreading a twisted version of what actually happened. I stand by my word that Orange had the choice to remove those images and didn't. While they aren't as to blame as the ones that spread the images, she had the choice to remove those images from her server and didn't, instead egging on the spreading and laughing about it.

- "Kenji faked his suicide" Nah. I wanted to attempt that day, I was talked out of it. I instead ended up cutting, but apparently that isn't good enough for accounts such as yourself. Instead of, yknow, realising that I needed help you instead went "oh well he didn't kill himself so he's a liar". Your reasonings for making the account you own are malicious.

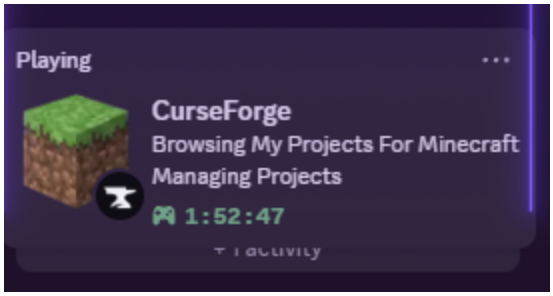
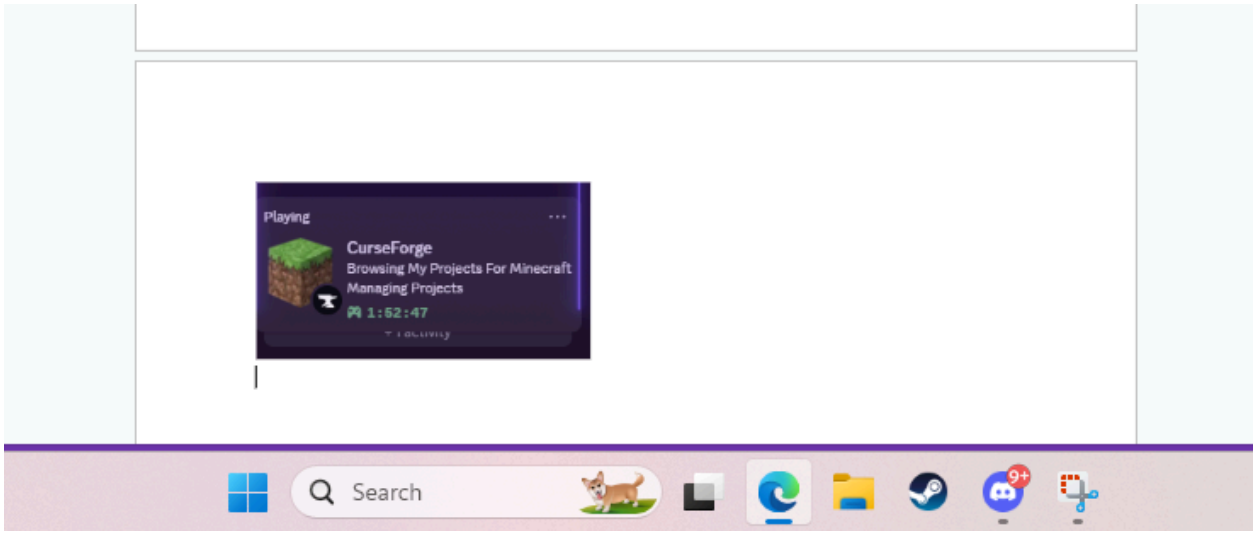
I didn't fake it. When I sent those messages to you I wanted to go through with it. I was talked out of it, eventually, by my boyfriend and told to not go through with it. I told him I was going through with it and he eventually had to have me sit in the bath while I was on call with him. It took two hours of convincing to get me to not go through with it. I instead self harmed. I stated it "isn't good enough for accounts like yourself" because I can see by your actions that it is not. You again, moved the goalpost. "Oh well.. You didn't commit so I guess you lied about it." The intent to commit was there. Plus, the minecraft thing is unrelated. I left my PC turned on logged into my friends world so they could grow crops in a modded game. Not only this, but my PC automatically loads the launcher for mods for minecraft and can sometimes claim I'm "searching for mods" purely because of this. I have had my friends text me "aren't you meant to be X?" during my sleep / work simply because my launcher was left on my PC. It has happened multiple times. Using minecraft or even going out of your way to search for my discord and spreading it around as a "gotcha moment" isn't very mature and it is clear you guys were grasping at anything to try and disprove that I had committed, rather than actually caring about the fact my mental health got so bad that I was considering committing, to the point I had stated matter of factly that I was going to do so. What I tried to do as a cry for help, YOU see as "guilt tripping".. So I guess that says a lot about how mature you are about a situation you very clearly know little about.

Proving the "Minecraft" logic is false:

Update: 26/08/2025
I left my computer open with NOTHING on but just my browser. My account currently claims I have been "browsing mods" for an hour.





Here is a screenshot of my bottom bar. All I have open is my browser, discord and a snipping tool. Proving I don't even have to have minecraft open for it to claim I'm playing MC. What you saw was me genuinely AFK in a world.

Continued response to the statement:

- "Kenji's sister was asking for it." No. She wasn't. She is 15. She told an account multiple times to stop harassing her, yet it continued. If a minor contacts you about drama she shouldn't be in, block her. Telling me a "minor was asking for it" after sexually harassing her is very pedophillic and creepy in nature.

This was more in response to OTHER asks I had gotten rather than a response directly to this account. I have had multiple anonymous asks with people claiming my sister was asking for it. I also have seen you have anonymous asks with people claiming that my sister was "clearly asking for the attention" considering she responded to people attacking me.

I know Kenji is watching this account, so I'm gonna put my two cents
Kenji, your sister involved herself in your drama if she doesn't want to be harassed she shouldn't have involved herself in your drama just to "protect you from bullies online" Your adult keeps in mind that I assume she's a minor. The drama around you has a lot of adult-related topics which as an older brother probably don't want her involved in She can block that radiantzonevirtue account This'll be the last sister related ask I'm gonna reply to. But know that I agree with it.

"Your sister involved herself in your drama. IF SHE DOESN'T WANT TO BE HARASSED SHE SHOULDN'T HAVE INVOLVED HERSELF."

This is a statement you agree with. This statement is complete and utter bullshit. If a child involves themselves inside of drama. You know what you do? Block. "Ooh but she can block the-" No. YOU as an adult have a responsibility to keep children online safe, this is why I spoke up about it. Because you are blaming the child for being harassed online when quite simply that's a bullshit excuse to allow others to get away with the harassment. I can't believe that you have a job in working in keeping children safe, yet are this blind to the shit you agree with.

I have a hard time believing kenji's "sister" is his sister, and not just him on an alt pretending to be a minor to get away from his actions. I mean the links on their account are kenji's links, to HIS commissions and HIS strawpage.
Until I see any actual evidence It's his sister, I'm not really convinced- Although It's not of particular concern to me because It's pretty inactive and not doing much.

Again here, someone tries claiming that I am pretending to be my sister and you say “Until I see actual evidence it’s his sister, I’m not really convinced”.

Here you indirectly claim that I own my sister's account and agree with the anonymous message that was sent to you simply by saying that you “are not convinced that it’s my sister”. Here you are indirectly agreeing with the statement “him on an alt pretending to be a minor to get away from his actions” I have had anonymous messages quite literally quote your account as evidence as to “Me being my sister and my sister not existing” and ALSO used statements like these to say “the sexual harassment was okay because it was towards you pretending to be a minor anyway” which is why I have such distaste in the way you handle the situation, as it allows for others to corrupt what you are saying to allow their disgusting actions to be justified.

Another example of your words being taken out of context is Dirt, who directly claims that I was the random account making ableist comments. This comment was made after YOU directly made a post claiming it was “totally not me” which to me, is a sarcastic comment because you yourself believe it is me.

August 23rd
Kenji has once again tried doxxing someone, and made an extremely ableist remark towards someone who uses a wheelchair.

It leads people to believe that it is me and take these words at face value, like they have done with Dirt's entire document. Most of the accounts' dirt claims are me they have no evidence for. Yet because Dirt says it's me, it's me. This has also been proven in other questions where users have quoted those other accounts to try and claim they were "my actions" when they were not.

This leads me to another point. Why is the Raizen account NOT me, but those accounts directly interacting with you ARE me? The way you claim "X account is me" and "X account isn't me" makes no logical sense and has no meaning behind it. You just "have a gut feeling so It's kenji" isn't concrete evidence to point fingers. Not only this, but directly calling the account "Kenji" is also evidence Dirt is using to 100% justify the account being me, when the account IS NOT ME.

Calling every single faceless account that pops up “Kenji”, except for the accounts that are directly targeting me, is the reason that I believe that someone you know is behind the accounts directly harassing me. Especially considering the fact you are quick to turn a blind eye to their actions yet are quick to point out “kenji accounts” and even call the accounts Kenji. You know people will take this as direct confirmation the account is me, this is why you do it. It happens time and time again with Dirt as well.

“About Dirt”

Yeah. She is stalkerish towards me since her ENTIRE FUCKING TUMBLR is dedicated to reposts from YOUR account. You go to her tumblr and scroll. You don’t see art, it’s all just my name. If I had an account like this about dirt, she’d go HEYWIRE about my actions. But no, because it’s me it means it’s perfectly okay. See the double standard? Everyone in this drama has set a double standard for everything.

“You can’t call me out for theft but when you do it I can call you out.”
“You can’t make a document about me but when I do it It’s okay”
“You can’t make blogs calling out my actions but when I do it it’s okay”
“You have to go offline forever scum but when we are just as disgusting it’s okay.”

The double standard would be quite laughable if it wasn’t sad. I can’t post artwork because I get it stolen from me, sexualised or put into AI. Yet when I point this out it’s “I don’t care” or “Lmao karma”. Yet if I were to do the same thing, I am dragged through the mud for it. It is clear that the accounts against me are all seemingly under a single user, especially considering the fact that when I report and take down one, the other goes down.

I reported SakuraWillowTree, and it got removed.. The Radiantzonevirtue account also went down at the exact same time. The “KenjiCallout” account has also got removed as well as “KenjiEvidence”, proving that all of these users were under a single account.

I reported the BluushCruush documentary account, it got removed.. So did 11 other accounts that were posting about me. Yet again proving that all of those accounts were under a single account.

But none of those get called out since it’s “karma” I guess. (According to anon asks + the previous known accounts that have stated this to my face.)

Update: 31/08/2025

The Kenji Documentation account has decided to switch to just pure bullying, so I wished to document it here.

That person who said Kenji's art is "emotionally stunted" is spot on.
I've been around since 2019 and I've watched the people he's had drama with evolve from being at the same level to leagues above him in art quality. And I think at least in the back of his mind he's aware of this. He goes out of his way to steal from these people and claim it as his own but what would be the point in stealing if you thought you could make something better?
To be very blunt, his insistence on tracing/heavily referencing has only stunted his art to what (not even trying to be mean) looks to be drawn by a young teenager. It lacks fundamentals and from the speed paints he's posted in the past he very rarely fixes errors in his original sketches.
His art is stuck. Very stuck in the same spot, He's never really improved- It's just a different type of stiff and mediocre.

Anonymous asked:

Woops ignore that last ask I sent I dropped my phone LMAO. Anywho Im glad we're finally dissecting Kenji's art at least a little bit.

The main issue with it is that it has no distinctive artistic identity. By that I mean there is nothing that makes it Kenji. There is nothing of substance to be found within his art and there is nothing that makes it "Kenji." This of course happens because of his heavy referencing and/or tracing. His inherent need to constantly be drawing over something isn't a tool to learn, it has become a crutch. To be very blunt, he has incidentally whether intentionally or not, disabled himself from creating any sort of artistic identity for himself and has inhibited himself from growing artistically.

I mean this very honestly, he will never make it as a freelance artist if he cannot develop his own identity past "these people are abusing me," and make it about his art.

Going back on topic; his art is very elementary. There is no proof that he knows the fundamentals. He does not understand nor know how to portray basic angles (front view, 3/4 view, side view), basic lighting and therein coloring, proportions, anatomy, and line work. It is sloppy and shows no practice nor discipline. This is, of course, aided by the fact that he cannot draw on his own. Not one of his pieces I have seen thus far are completely and utterly original.

This leads me to my next point: it's ironic that his main claim and attacking points is that people are stealing his work. Kenji, how could one steal if there is nothing to steal? Of course, you could argue that its the thing itself. But why would someone steal something so worthless? Ie something so completely devoid of substance.

It's also ironic that he attacks others and places them in a position lower than him artistically, when everyone he's attacked has been competent enough at art. One example that comes to mind is Dirt. Dirt has a very unique style and artistic identity that has established itself properly online. You know its Dirt when you see the art. And its very cute art! She has a very strong artstyle!

Maybe, if one is to speculate, this may be a point of insecurity for him - which explains why he attacks so many other artists. To make him feel better about himself maybe? I dunno. But my point is that his art is stunted, just how he himself is so emotionally stunted. And also, he really needs to sit down and watch some YouTube tutorials and to stop tracing art off of Pinterest.

Be original guys, even if it doesn't work at first.

Again, another claiming my artwork is stunted.

kenji's entirely incapable of making anything original, and it's very obviously stunting his artistic growth.

he has no understanding of how to create a dynamic pose, so his art feels stiff and the proportions vary wildly from piece to piece. you only see complex compositions from him when it's traced or ""heavily referenced"" from someone else. kenji's art is incredibly overdetailed but he has absolutely no grasp of anatomy and barely a sense of his own "unique" style.

i'm not about to deride him and say he's incapable of learning, that's mean and unconstructive. it's more that he's the one making himself incapable of learning. he's insisted in past "apologies" that he only traced "for practice", and yet he's in his 20s and has been drawing for almost a decade and is still tracing "for practice". he relies on tracing other peoples' art instead of learning to draw for himself, and it's holding him back from any meaningful improvement.

He doesn't try bettering his Lineart, Anatomy, Framing, Color Palletes, Adoptables. He just uses bases, The Fill tool and some random patterning and Expects to be viewed as a professional artist.

I'm not trying to be rude here, But considering He's been drawing for 10+ years I expect A Lot better.

This entire post was the Kenji Documentation account ripping apart my artwork and explaining why it's stunted. The whole point of artwork is to be subjective and to have fun with it. I'm not drawing to "be better". Of course, I'm always trying to be. I just draw because I find comfort in drawing and it helps me with panic attacks / anxiety attacks as well as helps me calm down from overstimulation. I draw because I WANT TO. I don't draw so that fucks like you can rip apart my artwork in an attempt to be "justified" in your corrupt abelist thinking.

Hope Your Abuser Dies
These are two recent drawings that show what I'm talking about pretty well.
On the first one, the shading on the skin is pretty 'detailed,' Being airbrushed in a PillowShading type of style. The Hair is highly rendered- Debatable if it looks good, but It does have a lot going on with the different shines, Dark lines and Gradients. Then you look at the actual anatomy of the piece and It's been so obviously traced and simplified in a manner that just DOES NOT Fit the rendering. The lineart is incredibly sloppy, The Torso specifically looks terrible and disjointed from the rest of the body- It's too large with the line in the Armpit going up to where the shoulder would connect, There's no collarbone, The pecs and shading on them look huge but there's no actual Like... Gravity to them? If that makes sense? Like the only thing telling me this character has pecs is the very Bad shading. The creases on the arm don't make any sense, Why is it creasing in two different directions? The face itself is messed up proportionally, It's too long and the eyes are way too close together, The face is meant to be at a 3/4 angle but all the features look like they're from different angles, The ear is just lazy slapped on there- And It's all airbrushed to hell.
It's almost like one of those shitty Dollar Store coloring books.

Notice here they use language like "dollar store coloring books". Directly trying to claim my artwork is "childish" and "shitty". Again, very infantilizing connotations. Ah, but if I point this out. I apparently am just using “buzzwords” to “make myself seem like the victim”. Again, according to “Kenji Documentation” who has apparently “worked with autistic children”. Yet, uses very infantilizing words when expressing their hatred for my artwork and actions.

The Second piece is especially ugly, with a lot of the same issues as the first one- Incredibly simple and weightless lineart with overly complex coloring and anatomy that Isn't being conveyed properly. It's using the 'proportions' of a regular person but It lacks any of the proper detailing or muscle, So it looks uncanny. The face is a whole different story.

^ Never had permission to put my boyfriends OC on your shitty callout page. But yknow, who asks for consent nowadays? Dirt didn't when they included Q's artwork in their document without their consent AND refused to remove it when asked. Not a shocker that you'd act the same way.

It's so long and the eyes are so close together It looks uncanny. There's no top lip and while you could argue that's a stylistic choice, It looks bizarre. The nose is at an upturned, 3/4 angle while the head is almost front on. There's no hairline at all, It almost looks like a wig. The ear is sloppy drawn on, The Collar is huge, The eyebrows are too small and unestablished. The cheek bones aren't where cheekbones are supposed to be- It's just unpleasant to look at. The whole thing is also very poorly pillow shaded with an airbrush and It's inherently unappealing.

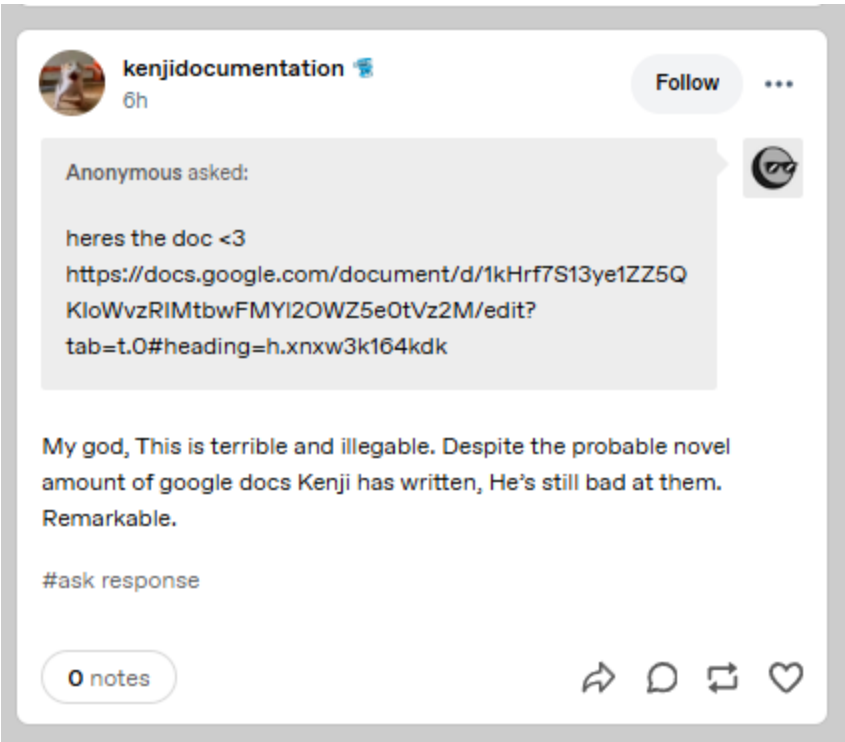
Kenji claims Dirt is stalking him by saying he deactivated in his document.
It doesn't really take a genius to explain why this isn't stalking, but here's the document just for evidences sake.
Harassment I have endured
Here is a document to show the harassment I have endured over the past couple of months. I am going to refuse to post further,...
GOOGLE DOCS
"Dirtpileofworms"
I deactivated today (30/08/2025) because I did not wish to be on a platform where I am being stalked consistently through Clearsky.
And then was informed Dirt posted this, minutes after I reactivated my account:

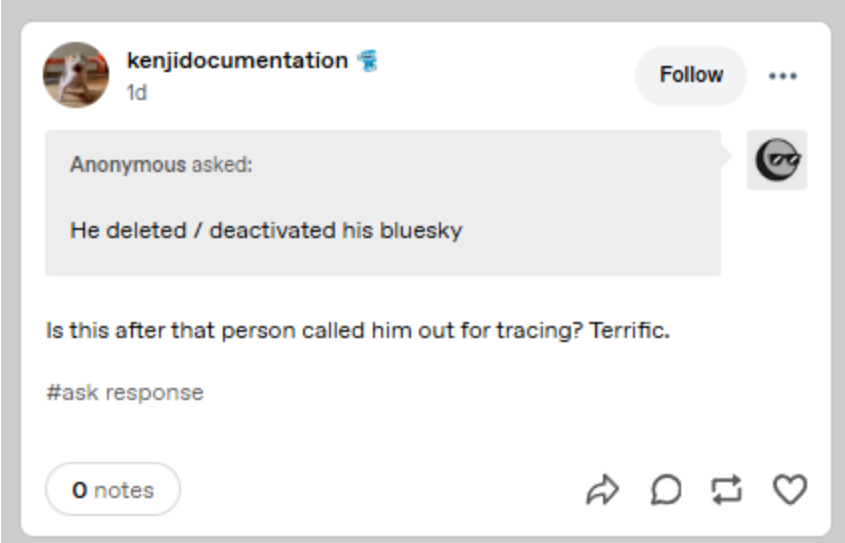
It is stalking. Looking at someone's account consistently and seeing when they deactivate and reactivate not even an hour before and after the action IS stalking.
It is clear evidence Dirt was looking for my account, saw it was gone, celebrated. Then looked for it again and saw it was back. If I did the same actions you'd claim I was stalking Dirt. Your clear dismissive nature for something you'd weaponize against me is why I believe you are an unreliable source of information. This, plus, you take every anonymous message as factual information.



Oh and to top it all off, every time I actually show how disgusting these people's actions are, the evidence is deemed “illegable”. My whole work is apparently “childish” “emotionally stunted” and “illegable” according to this account so, no surprise here! Abelism at its finest!

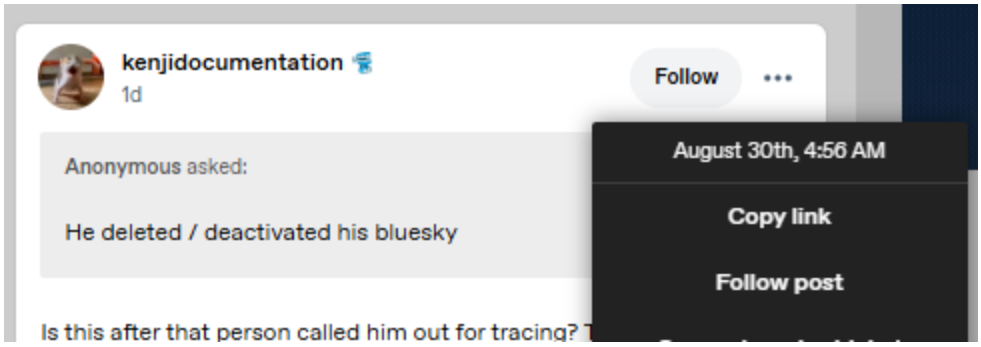
Evidence of stalking

KenjiDocumentation has a very big issue with allowing users to stalk accounts that I own or accounts that my family has owned. As shown previously, once an account is known to KenjiDocumentation, people tend to dogpile harassment onto this account. This was proven by the anonymous sexual messages my sister had gotten previously.



It is proven multiple times that KenjiDocumentation gets to know every little thing I do in my day to day life and also, for some reason, believes they have the right to comment on my “childish artistic talent". So of course, when I deactivate due to harassment, they have to comment and twist the narrative.

Those two posts were roughly two hours apart, by the way.



Oh but it’s “all to document my bad actions” I guess. Because deactivating is seen as a bad action now.

Evidence of Stalking

I deactivated today (30/08/2025) because I did not wish to be on a platform where I am being stalked consistently through Clearsky.

After I deactivated, they posted this.

I reactivated around 30 ish minutes ago (it is currently 5:11am for me)

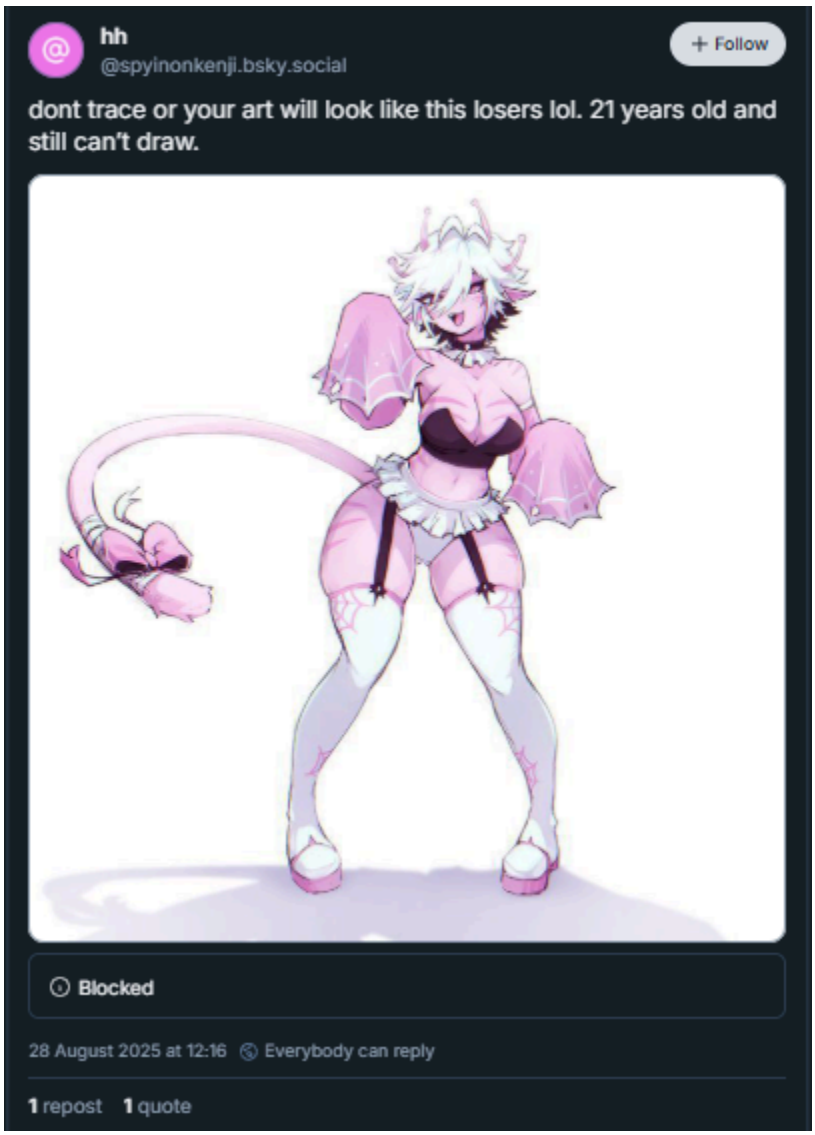
And then was informed Dirt posted this, minutes after I reactivated my account:

There’s clear evidence of stalking going on, especially considering how close the times were of Dirt’s posts and my deactivation and reactivation.

“Random Accounts” ▼

“Hh / spyinonkenji”

An account popped up responding to my posts on bluesky. The account claims that I am tracing content and took it upon themselves to “educate others” on how to “not draw”.



The post was reposted by none other than Dirtpileofworms. Their entire account is practically just reposts of people harassing me and my art at this point, so nothing is new here.

The account is also childish and immature, as is everyone else involved. Again, nothing new here. Just wished to document their immaturity.
